2019-2020 IMPACT REPORT

SILVER LINING

In the fall of 2019, the media painted a dismal picture of residential care for youth in the province of New Brunswick, characterizing youth homes as warehouses lacking in stability, accountability and caring. The reality is that these homes are highly structured and well-maintained environments where children and youth find comfort and support to aid them in their journey of recovery and self-discovery. Instead of warehouses that metaphorically represent storage and isolation, these homes are greenhouses where young people are nurtured and supported in their healthy growth and development. Our programs help to guide youth out of darkness and confusion and bring them into the light through caring, building meaningful relationships and unlocking the potential that is inside each and every one of the clients we serve at Youth Impact.

In the twilight of this past year, the shadow of COVID-19 eclipsed so much of our lives. In a dark time unlike the world has ever experienced, many glimmers of hope and silver linings emerged at Youth Impact. I have never been prouder to be part of this organization. My dedicated colleagues shone so brightly as they maximized their creativity, courage and caring to support youth through these challenging weeks when sanctuary and guidance were urgently needed. We have also discovered some hidden talents among our staff members which include hair cutting, themed dress-up days during a Spirit Week, elaborate themed meals and birthday celebrations, bake off competitions between youth and staff, talent shows, glow stick dance parties, and yes, even karaoke.

Our outreach services at Youth QUEST Central were largely restructured but service delivery continued and, in some cases, accommodated an increased demand for essential services and counselling. Across the organization the health crisis had a unifying effect of common purpose, increased reliance on one another, elevated communication, and reprioritization. Some staff members migrated to other programs to help to mentor newer team members. There was sharing of information and innovation between programs and more time was devoted to relationship building when it counted more than ever. Our youth never cease to surprise me; many have shown resilience and adaptability in innumerable ways. They have expressed their enlightened appreciation for what they have and for the sense of connection they received from staff. In this time of illness many youths were inspired to heal.

In life, we seem overly focused on green lights and moving on to the next project as quickly as possible. With COVID-19, we experienced many more yellow lights requiring us to slow down and some red lights that caused many activities to stop altogether. These changes have resulted in more time of reflection, more effective communication strategies, smarter use of technology, and some improved efficiencies in how we operate as an organization. The importance of frequent check-ins with our staff and our clients has reminded us of how these small doses of caring can make such a big difference in how someone's day is going. These yellow and red lights have given us pause to truly recognize and appreciate how essential our services are in New Brunswick communities. Sometimes you need to slow down before you can go faster. Thank you to all our managers and staff members for their dedication, commitment, and courage that manifested a collective brilliance and guiding light for our clients in these troubled times.

YOUTH FEEDBACK

"I found Youth QUEST Central when I was 17 years old. I was homeless and staying at a local shelter. With all the services and support at Youth QUEST Central I have learned life skills, job skills, and furthered my education. I have made many good life choices with the continued support of Youth QUEST Central."

Youth QUEST Central

"The most important thing I learned from Youth Impact was not to be scared to say how I feel and not to just keep my feelings inside all the time. The staff helped me be a better and happier me."

Vincent

"Things have been better for me because I feel calmer and more stable to work on the things I need to and make a better life for myself. My life now is getting better every day. I am in the routine of preparing meals for myself, budgeting my money, building positive relationships with others, and taking much needed time for myself."

Transitional Housing

"I have been using the Drug Intervention Program for the last 6 years. I beat my hard drug addiction and have continued to meet my worker and be supported by the people in the program. It's great for me to have someone to talk to and give me good advice!"

Drug Intervention Program

AT-RISK DEFINED

Simply put, it means "at-risk" of not becoming a healthy and productive adult. An at-risk youth is threatened by various factors that inhibit learning, impede adjustment, and impair judgment, making it more likely that he or she will make choices that result in further marginalization, often with dire short and long-term consequences.

OUR MISSION

Youth Impact Jeunesse Inc. helps young people succeed by providing support and new opportunities.

OUR MANDATE

The purpose of Youth Impact Jeunesse Inc. is to provide quality care and guidance to children and youth between ten and twenty-four years of age, with social, emotional, and behavioural challenges.

The goal is to help youth and their families reduce or eliminate the conditions that have acted as obstacles to their success.

Services are offered within an integrated multi-component continuum of care which ranges from preventative community services, in-home family support, highly structured residential treatment programs, to less structured transitional housing.

VISION STATEMENT

The Maritimes' leading organization in growing successful people.

“At risk and homeless youth are a vulnerable population, we believe firmly in helping. Our staff really made us proud around the holidays, Ride for Refuge and Coldest Night of the Year, when they stepped up and volunteered their own time, bought and collected donations for the youth especially during the holiday season.”

PRESIDENT'S REPORT 2020

Ordinary Miracles

This year has been one that brought with it some unique challenges and many opportunities. The most obvious challenge, of course, has been the significant change to everyone's daily lives since mid-March, and we're grateful that each and every one of our staff showed commitment and creativity to ensure the services they provide to our youth in care remained of the highest quality. You'll hear more about this effort as the AGM unfolds, so let me talk about some of the other highlights over the past year.

The agency is currently in the early stages of the third year of its three-year strategic plan. A two-year update was held in February and I'm pleased to share that there is much progress being accomplished with the many goals the agency set for itself in order to create its own best future.

The Board conducted a review of its Operational Policies and ratified all changes in December to ensure these policies are current and in agreement with provincial legislation. I wish to thank the review committee composed of members of the Management Team, and the Executive Director, for their contributions to this review exercise.

To improve communication and connectivity the Board has been inviting members of the Management Team to attend part of each of its Board meetings. Managers give an overview of themselves and of the programs for which they are responsible and then have an interactive discussion with the Board. We even held one Board meeting at Youth QUEST Central. This informative process began prior to Christmas and will continue for the current fiscal year, allowing all Board members to be better acquainted with the agency's programs and front line leaders.

In October, the agency was recognized by one of its community partners, the Slight Edge Group of LMI Canada. At the latter's ten-year anniversary Youth Impact was named LMI's Client of the Year. I thank LMI CEO Steve Daniels for this honour and the ongoing collaboration between our organizations.

It has been a busy year for our Executive Director who is also serving as President of the New Brunswick Association of Youth Residential Services Inc., which is an important leadership role that has assisted member organizations around the province in obtaining improved compensation and recognition of the value of Youth Care work in the province.

We are grateful for the many partnerships the agency has, and in recognition of its many donors from the community, Youth Impact hosted a donor appreciation event at Royal Oaks in May of 2019, which was well attended, with presentations from the Executive Director and three Program Managers. Two youth served as ambassadors and assisted in many ways, including offering their personal stories which illustrated how these services positively impacted their lives. I personally saw how many of our donors were moved by the testimony of these youth ambassadors.

Thank you to all our staff members and community partners for making ordinary miracles possible on a regular basis for young people struggling to make their way forward.

“Jeff’s journey had many ups and downs, and at times such deeply challenging and worrisome periods. Your team helped him move forward to being happier and healthier. He will carry with him for years to come all that you provided during his time with you.

You were willing to continue learning about him and were invested in creating a connection with him. You are a team of professionals who genuinely care for the youth you work with and it shows every single day. You are a solid and strong team who use each other’s strengths to meet the needs of the youth. You have incredible leadership.

Jeff moved out after having one of the most successful and stable years of his life and you were all a MASSIVE part of getting him there. I know I can speak for Jeff, myself and the entire Child Care program when I say we appreciate you, it is a pleasure working alongside you, and you are making a massive positive impact on the youth in your residential programs.

THANK YOU from the bottom of my heart for all of it.”
